

GREAT TEAMS

Great teams are made up of individual athletes who have consciously given up their quest for personal glory, who have willingly and wholeheartedly embraced the character traits of a team player, and who have fully committed themselves to the group effort.