

2009-2010 Season

By Rich Murawski
Assistant Sports Editor

FLINTON — The Glendale wrestling team lost six key contributors to graduation from last year's 14-7 dual meet squad. But with 10 returning letterwinners and a smattering of new talent in the room, the Vikings are looking forward to the season.

"This group is just a bunch of good kids," Glendale head coach Bill Damiano said. "They do what you tell them in the room.

They get good grades. I'm pleasantly surprised with what I've seen so far, and cautiously optimistic about the season."

Glendale has 22 kids on the varsity roster, including some fresh faces that Damiano thinks can make the lineup stronger.

"We've been recruiting kids that many have sat out for a year behind the big senior class," Damiano said.

"When you have a big group like that, no one wants to wait and watch. We have a bunch of sophomores — a lot of new faces. But we also have a lot of kids with experience spread throughout the lineup."

Sophomores Josh Traveny and Dennis Foster are slated to start at 103 and 112, respectively with senior Jon Gregg at 119, meaning the first three weight classes will feature kids with no varsity matches under their belt.

Junior Brett Sweitzer and senior Kenny Traveny return with one expected to go at 125 and the other to wrestle at 130.

Sophomore Paul Kearnelly and senior James O'Brian could also see time at these weight classes.

Sweitzer was 13-10 a season ago with seven falls.

"He's just a monster as far as strength goes," Damiano said.

Seniors Nathan Glass (135) and Codi McClellan (140) and junior Brandon Bickford (145) give the Vikings a nice string of experience through the middle of the lineup. Junior Cory Curtis and sophomore Joey Fletcher provide depth at these weights.

McClellan was 17-10 with 12 pins last year, and also had a nice showing at the District 6 Tournament, going 3-2. Bickford started out strong, winning 12 of his first 13 bouts a year ago, and ended the season with a mark of 17-8. He won 13 bouts by fall.

"Codi gives you everything he has and then borrows more to give you," Damiano said. "And Bickford started off real fast last year and then got a little banged up."

At 152, the Vikings will start either junior Mason Miles or sophomore Timmy Sutton. Miles or returning senior Dustin Shaffer will be at 160.

Shaffer was 13-7 last year and was named the most improved wrestler by the Vikings.

Sophomore Mitchell Gedman will wrestle at 171 with senior incumbent Josh Yaworski at 189. Another returning senior, Robert Fry, could go at either weight class.

Senior Bobby Shepler and junior Dave Brown return to reprise their roles at 215 and heavyweight, respectively. Sophomores Tucker Weakland (215) and Earl Downs (heavyweight) will be the main backups.

Yaworski was 13-8 last year, while Shepler was 18-8 with 15 pins. Brown was 20-5 with 14 pins last season.

"I think you can throw Dave in the top three in the district," Damiano said. "I keep telling Dave that the only person that can beat Dave is Dave."

Despite several weight classes with first-time varsity combatants, Damiano feels he has enough experience and talent in the room for a solid season.

"I feel real confident with these kids," he said. "We do have a rough road to hoe in the early going starting off with Penn Cambria and then hitting the (Blairsville) dual meet tournament the next day.

"I'd like to win them all," Damiano continued. "That may not be realistic, but why not us? That's our motto for the season. District 6 is wide open this year. Some teams are pretty good, but they all have some holes. The big thing for us is how much did we improve? These guys are all quick to tell you they want another shot at guys that beat them last year."

Glendale opens its season tomorrow night, hosting Penn Cambria.
